Wheat, corn, and cotton continue on their downward trend and heavy rains have fallen in the week following Harding's election to the presidency, effectually putting a stop to all farming operations for at least ten days as a result. Democrats and Republicans alike will live to rue the day they ever put a republican in power. It will be either too wet or too dry the whole four years of Harding's administration.—Flyda-da Hesperian.

The Wilson administration came in for a large share of cussing during the past eight years, and it is a relief that the Republicans are now to step in and furnish targets for the spleen of the people. Lots of people had an idea that the markets would advance after the National election, and if history had repeated itself there would have been a noticeable upward tendency. But instead of advance in farm products the bottom seemed to have fallen out directly after the announcement that Harding had been elected president. We doubt seriously whether there would have been a change in the situation in the event the Democrats had remained in power. This going to pieces of the markets and prices in general seems to have been as inevitable as the laws of nature. It just had to be. There is one funny thing about the whole business, and that is, that the laugh is on the crowd of weak-kneed Democrats that voted the Republican ticket believing the markets would advance. They are now placed in a position of parting with both their democracy and their products at exceedingly low prices.—Lockney Beacon.

Oh well, four years won't be long and by 1924 they all shall have repented, ready to swap back at any price.

Dr. R. G. Davenport, J. W. Couch, Hugh Boren and Dr. W. H. Morrow left Saturday for Southwest Texas on a hunting trip. They may go to Devils River, Point Isabel or some other point thinking perhaps that where the President has been ought to be good hunting ground. While there hasn't been as much publicity given these sportsmen perhaps, as President-elect Harding, it was evident to those who watched them depart that they were out for big game. Grizzlies, Deer, Cotton-tail Rabbits, look out!

Our Resignation.

After four and a half years of most pleasant service together as pastor and people, we gave our resignation last Sunday night to take effect on the first of December. The resignation came at the close of a very gracious service, and many were the tears and sobs from all parts of the audience. It is always sad to say good-bye, but such is the way with this world, and will be the way till the end of time.

All the expressions of love and gratitude we greatly appreciated, and nothing but the conscious feeling that we are doing the will of God, could ever move us from the good people of Snyder, whose we have been and whom we have tried to serve. Our hearts go out in tenderest Christian love for all the people, and the fact that we have to leave them has grieved us more than tongue can tell.

We go to the most important and strategic field in West Texas, and will go with the prayer that the Lord will make us fit for the great task to which he has called us. Though we shall not leave at once, yet the pastor will begin his work on the new field on the first of December. Though the service Sunday night will be our last together, yet we hope to see much of each other for many days yet, and then often in the future.

We hope that some time a little later we may be able to arrange a social for all our friends, at which time the final good byes will be given.

May the Lord's blessings rest upon our people and may His Divine Spirit lead them to a great and good pastor to take up the work where we have to lay it down.

W. H. SIMS.
